

Image Resizing: This may be a dumb question, but I can't find it anywhere... What do you do with the photos that are resized? How often are they deleted? I just want to make sure they aren't shared anywhere! Thanks!

The photos are deleted periodically. They are publicly accessible, but a person has to know the specific Resizr-created filename to access the image. The filenames are created using an MD5 hash function, so there's a very, very low chance that someone would be able to find an image randomly.

To analogize, the key to your front door is publicly accessible. If someone happens to have the right key, they can open your door. Having the right filename is like having the right key.

Periodically, files are deleted. They'll be online for at least an hour.

After files are resized, you can download them to your computer or send them to others!

Unique solution ID: #1020

Author: Matt

Last update: 2007-02-20 15:47